VARSITY ELEVEN BREAKS TRAINING

Big Games of Season Over—Colorado College Boys Have No Complaints to Make.

With the game on Thanksgiving day football in the Rocky mountain regions was brought to a close for this season. On the local gridiron there will be one more contest, the post-season game between All Hallows college and the High school on Cummings field next Saturday. After Thursday's contest the U team broke training and the players will now settle down to their lessons. It is today of the first of next week the official picture will be taken and the captain elected, when the team of 1907 will disband. This season has brought out a number of good men at the university, and many of them have numbers in the present senior class. Those who are freshmen and will be available for three more years are Richardson, Morris, Grant, Honan, Fergusson, and Ferguson. Richardson has played a great game at half back this season, which is his first appearance in college company, and with three years to go he ought to make one of the greatest half backs Utah has ever had.

Russell Plays Last Game.

Captain Cuddy Russell played his last game Thursday after five years of remarkable football career. Bryant, the star tackle, will also be missed next year. He is a member of the present senior class. It is not probable that Seely will be available next year. The rest of the team, including Dad Conville, will probably be in harness again. The Colorado college team is still in the city. Yesterday they were taken around by university students. Many made a trip to Saltair in the morning, and in the afternoon they visited the points of interest around the city. Before dinner, all went to the Y. M. C. A. and took a swim. In the evening the Colorado men were guests at parties at the fraternity houses. They will leave the city this afternoon.

POOL AND BILLIARDS.

Peters Beats Cain.

Playing wonderful pool, John Peters forged to second position for the state championship now being played at the Log Cabin billiard hall, defeating Alvin Cain in one of the most spectacular games seen here. The contest was played before the largest crowd that has witnessed a match during the tourney. Everybody cheered when Peters won, as it placed him one goal nearer the championship. At the outset it seemed as if Cain would be soundly beaten, as Peters, counting steadily, and sometimes brilliantly, made a run of 23, and then immediately afterward another of 15, and the game seemed hopelessly in the hands of Peters. O'Connell champion woke up with two runs of 14 and one of 13, tied the score at 47. From here on they were lapped all the way, and the score was a tie at different intervals after they had passed the 50 mark. Then a miss by Cain and a beautiful cluster of 18 by his opponent won a great contest for Peters. Score: Peters, 100; high run, 23. Cain, 88; high run, 14.

St. Louis, Nov. 28.—Frank P. Daly of Chicago in the thirty-fourth game of the national three-cushion billiard championship tournament and thereby made himself a contender with Harry P. Oline of Philadelphia for first honors. Daly's high run, 35, average, 31. Jevne's high run, 4, average, 40. Four games are yet to be played.

BASKETBALL SEASON OPENS

Y. M. C. A. and Strong B. Y. U. Team Meet in Former's Gym Tonight.

Now that football is over basketball will take the center of the stage for a while. The first big game of the year will take place tonight at the Y. M. C. A., between the first and second teams of the association and the B. Y. U. Provo. Provo has a team this year that is picked by some critics to win the state league championship. The Y. M. C. A. is not in the state school league, and this game will give an idea as to the respective strength of the Y. M. C. A. team and one of the strongest league teams. More than usual interest has been aroused over this game, the teams met last year early in the season, but poor condition lost for the Y. M. C. A. boys. This year the association team is in fine fettle and expects to win the game. Provo, with five big experienced players, while expecting a hard game, feels confident of winning. Little is known of the Provo team, but they are institutions, and the game between them will undoubtedly be very interesting. The game will be called at 7:30 p. m., and the big game at 8:45.

Line-up: Y. M. C. A. Chamberlain, C. F. Stewart; Rose, C. F. Holmstrom; Christensen, C. F. Hoffman; Jones, C. F. Blomquist. Referee—Tietzel. Umpire—Brown.

TURF RESULTS.

At Oakland.

San Francisco, Nov. 28.—Another record was broken at Emeryville in the Elmhurst steeplechase, six furlongs, when Tom Williams, colt, Perjuicio, had the honor of clipping a fifth of a second off the California record, which was formerly 1:12. The colt came within a fifth of a second of the world's record held by Roseben. Four sprinters lined up in the handicap, Curman's colt, Magazine, ruled first choice, but after flattering his backers to the saddling paddock, he began to wobble and lost the place to Mary P. Pajaroita, the odds-on favorite, experienced no trouble in annexing the initial purse. Results: First race, five and a half furlongs, purse—Pajaroita, 111 (Powers), 11 to 20, won; Alice, 11 (Moreland), 15 to 1, second; Manchester, 114 (W. Miller), 6 to 1, third. Time—1:38. Time—1:39 4-5. Mark Anthony II and Dollie Dollars finished as named.

At Benning.

Benning, D. C., Nov. 28.—One of the most novel contests in the history of the Benning course was decided today, when an even dozen enlisted men from troops of the United States cavalry and batteries of the United States field artillery mounted on the best horses of their commands met in the race for the rammy mounted service cup and purse of $500. Greg, the favorite, ridden by Saddler James G. MacGrath of the Thirtieth cavalry, proved an easy winner. Dan, ridden by Sergeant Roy Miller of the Eleventh cavalry, set the pace to the turn into the home stretch, when Greg took command and finished first by three lengths. The books were at first at sea in laying odds, with remarkable differences in prices, but finally settled on Greg and Randolph as almost even choices. The cup is to be competed for annually. Results: First race, six furlongs, handicap, seven furlongs—Comedienne won, Sanguine second, Right and True third. Time—1:29. Second race, the Southern steeplechase, about two miles—My Grace won, Warren second, Flying Machine third. Time—1:23. Third race, the Autumn amateur cup, six furlongs—Firebrand won, Simple Honor second, Killochar third. Time—1:13 1-5. Fourth race, the Army Mounted service cup, six furlongs—Greg (Saddler James G. MacGrath, troop 5, Thirtieth cavalry, Fort Myer, Va.), won; Dan (Sergeant Roy Miller, troop 1, Eleventh cavalry, Fort Ethan Allen, Vt.), second; Randolph (First Sergeant Thomas J. Hughes, battery 1, Third artillery, Fort Myer, Va.), third. Time—1:32. Fifth race, one mile—Lady Avis won, Wilton Lackey second, Noblesse Oblige third. Time—1:44 2-5. ## THREE HUSKY BEGGARS FOR THE CHAIN GANG

Muscular Men Overtaken by Police While Trying to Work the Thanksgiving Crows.

Three "healthy beggars" were before Police Judge Diehl yesterday afternoon. They had been taken red-handed while trying to work the Thanksgiving crowds upon the streets. All were big, muscular men, whose sallow limbs betrayed latent ability for hard work. The first of the beggars arraigned was Edward Mathews. He was an intelligent looking man, and did not present any of the usual characteristics of professional mendicants. Yet in his case appearances were deceiving. He was released from the chain gang on Thanksgiving morning, where he had served forty days for begging in the streets. But, after this severe lesson, he was not able to resist the desire to handle the Thanksgiving crowds. Char-ity is supposed to be more quick on such days than at ordinary times, and that may have had something to do with Mathews. At any rate, he was captured at Second South and State streets by Police-man Wood, who stated that the man was actively and industriously soliciting contributions from passers-by. He was sentenced to thirty days in the chain gang. At this, the white he had used in addressing the judge changed to a roar, and he accused the policeman of having conspired to bring about his undoing. George Brown, another husky, followed Mathews, and upon him also Judge Diehl bestowed thirty days in the chain gang. He was found soliciting alms in front of the Orpheum theater. Like Mathews, he was a perfect physical specimen with a bold eye and bearing himself like a grenadier of the Old Guard. The third beggar was John Burns. He had seen the fate which had overtaken his loud-mouthed mates and assumed a different front. "I am guilty," he whispered, in a very small voice. "Then he peered at the judge for signs of mercy as a reward for honest guilt. He, too, was sentenced to thirty days.

AMUSEMENTS

Paul Armstrong's bright play, "The Heir to the Hoohrah," opened a brief engagement at the Salt Lake theatre last night. A matinee today and another performance this evening. Mr. Armstrong in "The Heir to the Hoohrah" has deftly sketched some characters every western man knows. They are characters that are recognized the moment they set foot upon the stage, and they quickly win approval, because they are real people.

The play was presented here last year, and it is not necessary at this time to go into the story. The company, in the main, is good. It is impossible not to wish that Frank Monroe, who has the part of Joe Lacy, the principal male, had a few more infectious in his voice. He fits the character well, but he does not differentiate sufficiently between the serious and the light lines. The same thing, unfortunately, is true of Alice Murrell, who has the part of Mrs. Joe Lacy. But many of the others are admirable. For example, Helene Lackey as Kate Brann, Kate Brandon, Harry D. Crosby as Dave Lacy, Charles J. Wilson as Kelly and H. S. Hashida as the Japanese valet.

PAWN MOVED BY W. R. HEARST

Washington, Nov. 28.—At a caucus of the Democratic members of the house, scheduled for tomorrow at 2 p. m. Representative Jones of Virginia will introduce a resolution to this effect:

"That it is the sense of the Democratic members that all appointments to committees should be made by the speaker."

The purpose underlying this seemingly commonplace proposal is to take out of the hands of John Sharp Williams the naming of the Democratic members of the house committees.

"Speaker Cannon," said Mr. Jones tonight, "ever since he has been the ruler of the house has turned over all minority committee assignments to Mr. Williams—thereby providing a source of unpleasantness and squabbles between such of the minority as were not pleased with all of Mr. Williams' selections. This has always been a shrewd move on the speaker's part to disrupt the Democratic side of the house. If he can repeat it this year the results are apt to be especially disastrous to the Democratic party. If the Democrats, however, hold solidly together during this session, I believe we have a splendid chance for a Democratic house in the next congress. Further, the approach of a presidential year and the certainty of financial considerations to come before congress, call on their own account for absolute harmony of the minority."

In introducing a resolution for the naming of all committees in their entirety by the speaker I must not be misunderstood as aiming to discredit the leadership of the minority. On the contrary, Mr. Williams and I have always been good friends. I told him some time ago of my intention to introduce such a resolution. He neither said that he would uphold or oppose it."

"The increased number of the Democratic members of the house inclines the leaders of the minority to believe that there should be seven Democrats on committees which last session had but six, and it has been announced that a resolution embodying that sentiment will be adopted at tomorrow's caucus and conveyed to the speaker."
